

President Marcellus Shale Association

Location: Western or Central Pennsylvania

Reporting Relationship: Reports to the Board of Directors of the Marcellus Shale Association

Timing: The Marcellus Shale Association expects the President to be selected in Q4 2009 and start January 1, 2010

Mission Statement

Founded in 2008, the Marcellus Shale Association (MSA) is an organization committed to the environmentally responsible and efficient development of natural gas from the Marcellus shale geological formation.

The Association and its members are focused on proactively addressing issues before federal, state and local legislative and regulatory officials and to promote the image of the industry. Whereas the Marcellus Shale Association has been in operation for more than one year, its board has now decided to seek a full-time Association President to lead and coordinate all initiatives of the Association.

Interested candidates must possess the following qualifications:

- Demonstrated knowledge of the Marcellus shale natural gas industry.
- Demonstrated experience in government affairs in Pennsylvania, including personal relationships with leaders in the House and Senate, as well as members of the Executive Branch agencies.
- Direct experience in private or non-profit board management, including agenda development, preparation of minutes, reporting financial performance, preparing presentations, and executing effective and engaging board meetings.
- Extensive experience in developing communications strategies and in written and oral communication to diverse constituencies through the media, public speaking and one-on-one communication. The candidate should be able to identify specific public speaking experiences and provide examples of compelling written communications.
- Proven experience in policy analysis, quantitative analysis, and strategic planning, most notably in the areas of energy, environment, economic development, taxation and fiscal policy, and workforce development.
- Experience in managing the financial performance of a business, business unit and/or an organization with the business and financial acumen necessary to direct an organization from its inception.
- Demonstrated success in managing people and mentoring careers.
