The Ohio Geological Survey has an open position of a Geologist 3 for our energy resources group; this position is a project employee classification - meaning that it is tied to grant money for a term not to exceed 3 years. However, during that 3 years we do plan to permanently fund additional energy resource positions. This position will be involved with our on-going research on geologic carbon sequestration as well as conventional oil and gas research employing traditional reservoir characterization methods, subsurface mapping and analysis and a fair amount of field work involving drilling and well testing.
