

The Pennsylvania Geological Survey will be holding an open meeting of the Geological Mapping Advisory Committee (GMAC) on April 14th in State College. GMAC helps prioritize where the Geological Survey will do new geologic mapping and how they will spend State Map grant money from the USGS. The meeting will have a presentation on ongoing and planned mapping, an open time for comments (focusing on Marcellus, a box lunch and a field trip to local geological features of interest, led by Bob Pody of SRBC.

If anyone is interested in attending, please contact Jay Parrish at jayparrish@state.pa.us.