

RANGE RESOURCES

Range Resources Corporation is seeking a Sr. Geological Technician in our Canonsburg, PA location. This position will support the petroleum geoscientist in their exploration and developmental efforts related to Range Resources shale gas assets. Successful candidates will assist the geoscientist with evaluation efforts for acquisitions and divestitures. Job duties include using workstation software and mapping software; which may include Geographix, Petra, Seisvision, and Arc View and others. B.A. in Geology or related Geosciences discipline is preferred. Experience supporting petroleum geoscientists, within an active exploration and production environment and skills with PowerPoint software is required.

If you are interested in this position, please go to www.rangeresources.com, click on Employment and enter your information there. No faxes or regular mail accepted.