

Patriot Exploration Corp., a growing, independent oil and gas producer with operations in Southwestern Pennsylvania seeks two professionals. The first is for a completion engineer to assist with fracture design, well completion, reservoir analysis, and production management. This position involves a mix of field and office work. The second position is a for a GIS specialist to implement a comprehensive spatial database system for the company. Both positions may be filled by entry level or experienced personnel; salary and responsibility commensurate with experience. The primary requirements are an entrepreneurial spirit, a solid work ethic, and a technical background. Patriot, located in Donegal, PA, is a direct affiliate of Amerikohl Mining, Inc., Pennsylvania's largest surface mining coal company.
